HUSTONVILLE.

—This community was shocked by the announcement of J. T. Craig's death.

—An accession of 10 boarders crowds the accommodations at Hustonville Christian College to the necessary refusal of another applicant.

The blizzard Saturday night unroofed nearly every hay stack in this locality and farmers are in a rush retreating in advance of threatened rain or snow.

—Walter Greening is missing since last Tuesday, and at this particular juncture of so many mysterious disappearances considerable solicitude is felt by some of his intimates.

—The young ladies will give a leap year party Monday night at Mrs. John W. Reid's and this is a season of fasting and prayer—for an invitation—in anticipation of the superb spread which has ever characterized that occasion.

—Some of our turnpikes suffered sadly by heavy hauling during the wet spell and travel these frosty mornings provokes a murmur of dissatisfaction, which threatens to grow into a howling demand of early repairs or wide open gates.

—Miss Sarah Curtis, matron of Caldwell Institute, Danville, spent the holidays here with her host of friends. Miss Rosa Yowell, a pupil at that school, accompanied Miss Sarah for the holidays at home. George Wash is up from the Fork visiting relatives. Mrs. Wash Brown, of Neeley's Gap neighborhood, is reported dangerously ill of pneumonia, following grip.

—We intended to ask a month ago if our readers had noticed how prone the fine salt we get nowadays is to cake on fresh pork instead of promptly melting like the coarse? Several years ago this end had an expensive experience with the fine grained article furnished them instead of the old reliable coarse and the article on the market this winter demands frequent overhauls and fresh applications to the meat to insure the absorption of a preservative quantity.

—Charlie Sharpe, who was long manager of the Shillito Branch store here, passed through from Guthrie last week on a visit to Liberty. Miss Fannie Yowell was with her cousins last week. Miss Peeples, of Garrard College, accompanied Miss Mollie Harman home for the holidays. Col. Silas Adams passed through from Frankfort Friday for a brief stay at home. F. P. Combest was up last week still looking for a desirable farm in the bluegrass, it is presumed Misses Sallie and Mary Jenkins were up from Somerset last week. Their friends congratulate them on their success in business.

—Dr. James P. Riffe returned to Covington Monday to resume his course of lectures at the Ohio Medical College. Misses Belle and Lillie Riffe returned to Lancaster College after the holidays at home. Miss Mary Thompson, of Millersburg, is visiting Mrs. Alice Lusk. Beecher Adams, familiarly known by his many friends here as "Tude," got in Wednesday after over a year's absence. For several months he acted as advance agent for Blind Tom, during which time he traveled extensively through the extreme southern States. Add his paper again to the Hustonville batch. Robert Barnett has left the Cloyd farm, near town and removed to a farm in the vicinity of Danville. Bob has been a valuable acquisition to the West End for several years and his loss is yet to be supplied. The congregation of Christians here wisely concluded to retain the services of the veteran W. L. Williams during '92. Dr. Huffman, of Lexington, dined with Dr. Brown Friday. Billy Weatherford, of Richmond, imprudently ventured into this grip stricken section and is paying the penalty in a protracted confinement to his bed. Willie "Doc" Dye is having an exceedingly severe struggle with the same disease. Master Cosby Green was cordially welcomed from his new home in Illinois by his old chums and that in cludes every manly, youngster in and around town.

A Paducah clergyman tells this: "I married a couple up in Allen county, and after I had pronounced them man and wife the groom took me to one side and asked me what the damage was. I told him that there was no fixed price. He might give me what he chose."

"Parson," said he, "I've got five hound pups down home for which I'm asking $5 apiece and I'll let you have one for $3."

"Of course I declined so ridiculous a fee as I had no use for the hound pups. When he got home he must have found his wife better than he expected, for he sent me one of the hound pups accompanied with a letter saying that he was so happy with Maria that he would give me a dog for nothing."

—Dun's agency shows that during 1890 there were 12,273 failures, the largest number since 1857. The number last year was 10,907. In 1891, however, the liabilities were $189,838,638, which while in 1890 they were $189,656,964, making the average liabilities of each failure in 1890 $17,406, and in 1891, $15,741.

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

—There are a number of cases of grip in the town, but are usually of a mild form.

—Hon. R. C. Warren was in town Sunday attending the funeral of his brother-in-law, J. L. Duncan.

—It is said that the manuscript of the new constitution has faded so that it can scarcely be read. If it could be understood, when it is read, it would be better.

—The people of Lancaster will be loth to lose Mr. J. R. Marrs, of the Central Record, as a citizen of our town. He has not only given us a paper that has been a credit to the town, but has endeared himself to the people by his consistent example and fearless advocacy of the right on all questions affecting the interests of the community. He is a gentleman and a scholar and wherever he may go he will carry with him the best wishes of the citizens of Lancaster for his success. Whatever arrangements he may make as to the continuation of the publication of the Record will doubtless be made known in the next issue of that journal.

—James L. Duncan died at the old homestead of his father, Dr. Benjamin F. Duncan, in Lancaster, on Saturday morning, Jan. 2, 1892, after a protracted illness, in the 38th year of his age. He was a very dear friend of your correspondent, and none will more sincerely mourn his loss. He was a young man of noble instincts and true to his friends. Faithful to every trust confided to him, he had the confidence and respect of the entire community. Appropriate services were held at the Presbyterian church by Rev. Heddleston, of Paint Lick, and the remains interred in the Lancaster cemetery on Sunday afternoon.

—Sir Edwin Arnold, the author of the "Light of Asia," and who is now on a visit to this country, has kindly consented to write a poem, to be read at the opening of the Columbian Exposition at Chicago. This is kind in Sir Edwin and will no doubt be appreciated by those who are of the opinion that whatever is English, "you know," is better than that which is American, "you know."

We had an Englishman, "you know," to superintend the taking of the census, in the absence of any American qualified to perform that difficult task. That English superintendent of an American census, "you know," is now asking Congress to make the census bureau a department, with himself at the head as a prominent fixture. But whether this is done or not, let Sir Edwin proceed with his poem. It would be difficult to get along without it, and as Whittier and Holmes are too old to enter upon so elaborate a task and Henry Stanton has other fish to fry, it is probably best to let the Englishman have the field all to himself. Mount Your Pegasus, Sir Edwin, and turn yourself loose.

—It is claimed by the authorities who have been conducting the investigation as to our troubles with Chili that the captain of the Baltimore allowed a large number of his men to go on shore at a time when a revolution was in progress; that some of them got drunk and were fighting among themselves when the police interfered for the purpose of keeping the peace, and which was resisted by the sailors, thus bringing on the difficulty that resulted in some of them getting hurt. If the captain of the American vessel had been possessed of ordinary prudence, he would never have allowed the men to have gone ashore when fighting was in progress, but if it had been necessary to communicate with the American minister, it would have been better to have sent only a few men and those should have been accompanied by a commissioned officer. It seems, however, that there is a disposition to pounce upon poor little Chili and pound the life out of her simply because we are able to do so with impunity. Sixty-six millions of people ought to be able to whip two millions, though the glory that would come of it when done, would not be to our credit. Kentucky could furnish a regiment of colonels, if war should be declared, though a voyage of a month or so on the briny deep with the usual amount of sea sickness and the prospect of getting shot, stuck or runned through would not be pleasant to contemplate. Many of the patriots who would volunteer would be sorry they had enlisted before they had been out a week and be glad to get back to their steaks and mutton chops in the good old Blue-grass region of Kentucky. Some of them would no doubt feel like the Garrard county man who was employed to drive a flock of sheep from Lancaster to Bardonia. At a stream on their way some of the sheep went across, some up stream, some down stream and some turned back over the road they were on. Seated upon his horse, with one leg thrown over the pommel of his saddle, sad and disconsolate, and brooding over his misfortunes, his employer approached from the rear and asked him what was the matter. His reply was: "I was just wishing that them sheep was to hell and I was to home. Hello, Mr. Soldier-man!" "What are you thinking about?" "I was just wishing that them Chilians was in Guinea, and I was to home."

DEATH'S DOINGS.

—CRAIG.—Though he had been sick for a long time, the death of James T. Craig, which occurred at 7 yesterday morning, surprised and shocked the citizens, all of whom held him in the highest esteem. For several years he had been troubled with a skin affection, which about eight months ago developed into pemphigus, a very rare disease. This sapped his vitality and from the first his doctors said he could not recover, though they thought he might live longer than he did. Mr. Craig is the last of the seven children of the late Dr. John Craig and was 35 years of age. In 1888 he married Miss Mary Brown, daughter of the late Judge Ellis Brown, and she, heart broken and inconsolable, survives him. May the God of consolation to the widow sustain her in this dark hour, for from human source can no deliverance come, though loving hearts may bleed with sympathy. During his illness Mr. Craig spoke often to his wife of his death, which he was satisfied was a question of short time, and always in a hopeful and resigned manner. He was a member of the Christian church for a number of years and was universally beloved. The soul of honor, genial and warm hearted, Jim Craig had as many friends as anybody and his death strikes them with peculiar sadness. This afternoon the remains will be consigned to the earth after a short sermon at the grave in Buffalo Cemetery.

—Caldwell Campbell, the adopted son and heir to the large estate of the late Caldwell Campbell, founder of the Second Presbyterian church in this city, died very suddenly.—Register.

—Joseph McCauley, a substantial citizen of Marion county, is dead at 75 years.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—A cablegram from Bro. Barnes says he sailed on New Year's, via New Orleans for home.

—Rev. A. V. Sizemore will preach at White Oak School-house at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon next.

—The Methodists of Chicago have determined to build 10 new Methodist churches in that city every year for the next 10 years.

—Mrs. W. G. Welch has a number of copies of Bro. Barnes' book "Credo and Credulity," which those who have anxieties to secure can purchase.

—Rev. W. Y. Sheppard deserves a crown for the cross of driving up from Danville in Sunday's blizzard to hold services, especially since he is of such a frail constitution.

—Plans are maturing for the greatest camp-meeting ever held in the State, on the old fashioned order, to be held at Rice's Station, about 16 miles from Richmond in Estill county. The grounds have been secured and a large amphitheatre, with a seating capacity of 3,000, will be erected in the spring. Cottages and other appurtenances will also be built.—Richmond Register.

—This is the week of prayer and the services at the Methodist church will be participated in by all the churches. Rev. W. E. Arnold tells us that 10:30 A. M. and 6:30 P. M. are the hours for worship, a half an hour before each sermon to be devoted to a song and prayer service. All the church choirs will join Prof. E. S. Fogg in making the songs a feature.

—Rev. Dr. Moore, secretary of the Revision of Faith committee of the Presbyterian church, which meets in New York Jan. 12, says he has reports from 200 Presbyteries; 27 approve without asking for any change; 114 approve, with amendments proposed; 15 ask that the work of revision be discontinued; 35 ask for a new formula of doctrine under various designations and for various uses; no report has been received from 44 Presbyteries and three disapprove entirely.

MT. VERNON, ROCKCASTLE COUNTY.

—Mr. Samuel Myers, and Miss Lillie Hunt were married Sunday.

—Messrs. Logan, Thompson and D. C. Poynter gave a possum supper the other night.

—An effort is being made here to procure some of Keeley's cure to work on some of our local imbibers.

—The absence of drunkenness and rowdyism during the holidays just passed is remarkable in this neck of the woods.

—Our postmaster has a letter of inquiry from the pension office for Millie Smith, daughter of —Idol. Any one knowing her address will please notify the postmaster here.

—At the election last week Ashland Lodge, 640, chose the following officers: J. G. Carter, W. M., Willis Griffin, S. W., Noah Tyree, J. W., E. J. Brown, sec., W. L. Henderson, treas., and Robert Bray, tyler. After the election the Masons had a banquet.

—Mr. M. E. Mullins brought to town Monday a curiosity in the brier line. It was as flat as a shingle, three inches broad and three feet long, had three branches toward the top and had 333 pricks on it. The south side was colored red and the opposite side green.

LONDON, LAUREL COUNTY.

—The street lamps are not being lighted again on account of the lack of funds to buy oil, I understand.

—Prof. Hays, of Indiana, and Prof. C. R. Brock, of Williamsburg, have been here during the holidays. They both seem to be on the same errand (?)

—There are more people in town down with the grip than I can remember or learn the names of. My own family is severely afflicted and I suppose all the rest are just as bad off.

—The first snow that was worthy of the name commenced falling on Friday night and is still with us. I avoid the old adjectives written by an unknown poet (and credited to many) usually used by us country correspondents.

—A dance at F. B. Riley's Saturday night was the best attended of any in London this season. The dudes with red neckties were there and afforded amusement for those who didn't have them. The prettiest girls and the best young men were all present and the occasion was a most pleasant one.

—Mr. Onkst, the contractor for the sidewalk in front of the court-house, is still hauling rock to finish up with. This work was to have been completed by October last, but from present appearances a mistake of about a year in time was made. Owing to the building being erected on the opposite side of the street this has been the only side the people could pass on and it has been miserable indeed. The October term court of claims gave Mr. O. an additional allowance of $100.

—James Pentacoff and Hiram Dees had an examining trial before County Judge Barnett Thursday and were both held over to circuit court in the sum of $250. These were the parties who raised the row in which John Pentacoff and Wyatt Dees killed each other with Winchester rifles at Altamont and old man James Pentacoff got shot in the arm. On Saturday James Thompson also had an examining trial for shooting young Logston at East Bernstadt and was acquitted. It was reported that Logston would die at the time of the shooting, but his physician says the chances are now in favor of his recovery.

—This is not and never has been a boom town in the least meaning of the word, but improvements have been going on daily since the railroad reached here, and to-day there is not a vacant house in the place. Those in course of erection (and there are several) have been promised to renters or will be occupied by the builders. Outside of the many engaged in mercantile pursuits, all of whom are doing well, we have a saw mill, stone mill and two planing mills in the way of manufacturing and have room for anything else in this line from a broom factory almost up to iron works, with a Middleboro name. Don't go west, east or south, but come to London.

DANVILLE.—Clerk Reed S. Nichols has issued during the past 12 months 104 marriage licenses, 46 to white people while the colored brother claimed his attention in 58 of them.—Miss Patsy Hughes, one of the oldest citizens of Danville, died at the residence of Mrs. Veal, on Fourth street, Tuesday, of old age, being in her 78th year.—W. L. Caldwell and George Tarkington sold this week to some Tennessee parties, their imported jack, Paragon, for $2,500. E. W. Lee sold to Jerry Owens three car-loads of fat wethers, 115 pounds average, at $4.05 and one car-load at $3.50.—Advocate.

In the more uncivilized days of England a butcher who had sold diseased meat "was forced to ride about the streets of London, his face towards the horse's tail, with half a lamb before and another half behind, and beef and veal borne before him on a long pole. Men who sold spoiled fish were put in the pillory with decayed fish strung about their necks." A shoemaker was soundly whipped for making a high-priced boot of a cheap quality of leather. How thankful we should be that these restrictions on trade have not been kept up anywhere.

A POINTER FOR YOUNG MEN.—"I have but one maxim for you," said a successful and wealthy merchant to a young man who went out of his employ to enter upon the study of profession, "and that is never to try to save your shoe-leather, but always to be economical of the cloth that forms the seat of your trousers."—Youth's Companion.

Time for Repentance—Wife—"John dear, I wish particularly that you would come with me to church this morning." Husband—"Why this solicitude regarding my spiritual welfare?" Wife (gentle)—"Because I overheard you putting up the hall stove last evening."—Pittsburg Bulletin.

Hush that old hue and cry about "dying right"—live right. We do hate to hear a fellow singing about the "home over there," when his house over here has the window glass all broken out and his part of the vineyard looking like he had never cut a weed or brier in his life.

W. P. WALTON.

The Chicago Tribune, which has used every effort to procure correct information, says that there were 5,906 murders in the United States in 1891, and yet there were but 123 legal executions, Kentucky furnishing two. The lynchings number 195, six of the victims being females. Of the lynchings 11 occurred in Kentucky and nearly half of all of them were for outrages committed on women. Of the murders 2,820 were caused by quarrels and 877 were directly due to liquor, while we suppose nine-tenths of all of them were more or less due to the latter cause. The record is a terrible one and it grows more so with each year. About 6,000 murders and only 318 hangings for all causes! With such odds in their favor is it any wonder that red-handed murderers stalk abroad at noon day and pursue their occupation of carnage? The old Mosaic law, which demanded a life for a life and which is on most of the law books of the present day, ought to be enforced to the letter. Human life is too cheap and the courts and juries seem to combine in making it even cheaper.

A YOUNG woman of Springfield, O., against whom the tongue of slander has long been wagging, has just been cleared of suspicion. What all the old maids and other gossips thought was something else, was proved by surgical operation to have been a huge tumor, which was successfully removed. The moral of this little story is: Never say anything derogatory to the character of a woman unless you are positive that you are correct, and then don't. One evil word against a woman, whether true or no, may blast her reputation so that it may never be regained. It is better to break the ancient rule, "de mortuis nil nisi bonum," than to utter one evil word against a woman. The percentage of bad women is so small as compared to men, that the sex may almost be said to be without reproach.

The Senate, under the lead of those slick gentlemen, Messrs. Dave Smith and Jim Mulligan, succeeded in getting around the provisions of the new constitution limiting the number of pages for the body to three. The former offered a resolution that a "messenger" be appointed for the president and the latter another providing for a messenger who shall go the post-office, distribute the mail and make himself useful in other ways. Both resolutions passed and the Senate has five pages, notwithstanding the constitution took 226 days to provide iron-clad laws which they thought would be more unchangeable than those of the Medes and Persians. But we should like to see anything that these two statesmen could not beat when they laid their heads together.

AFTER swearing that he wouldn't qualify as State treasurer, Major Hale qualified Saturday and entered afresh upon the duties of the office. His letter to Gov. Brown was so unequivocal that that official accepted it as final and had settled upon the appointments that would be necessary under the prospective vacancy in the treasury. The newspapers are making much ado of the matter, far more, we think, than it demands. In changing his plans Maj. Hale has the consolation of the old adage, "A smart man may change his mind, a fool never." The correspondents and others will please give us a rest on what they choose to term the "hide and seek game" of the major and the governor.

THE senatorial fight in Ohio is red hot, with Sherman and Foraker nip and tuck. The latter made a speech to a gathering of his partisans in which he denounced the administration for its interference in the struggle and said everything from grandfather's hat to Baby McKee, was opposing him. If this is true, it is one time the administration is right. It would be a shame or Ohio to retire the eminent statesman John Sherman, for such an explosive fire alarm as Foraker.

THE Courier-Journal says Prince Victor Ferdinand Francis Eugene Adolph Constantine Frederick Hohenlohe died Thursday of grip. That might have hastened his demise, but the primary cause of his early taking off must have been the terrible strain of carrying that terrible name.

THE president paid no attention to the election held in Paducah by the republicans to nominate a postmaster. Mr. Houston got a majority of the votes, but he didn't get the office. Col. Ed. Farley is the appointee. H. B. Bryson goes in at Carlisle, Mr. Cleveland's man's term having just expired.

PATTI's pretty little foot has again touched the American shore and American fools are preparing to pay her $10 a note for every one she utters while making her second or third fairwell tour.

Gov. R. P. FLOWER was inaugurated at Albany, New York, New Year's, in Jeffersonian simplicity. He didn't care for fuss and furbelows, thereby showing his usual good sense.

A house trader in Aroostook county, Me., got religion and on joining the church announced that if any one thought that he had cheated in trading, he would on the following day make any difference good in cash. Next morning a man was on hand by daylight saying that he had called early to avoid the rush. He promptly paid him what he demanded and the one or two others that called, thereby convincing everybody that he had really and truly been born again.

The governor of Kansas has appointed Bishop W. Perkins to fill the vacancy in the U. S. Senate caused by the death of Mr. Plumb. Mr. Perkins is not a clergyman as his name might imply, but a considerable politician, who has held many offices, including that of Congressman three times. Since the Alliance swept him and others of his ilk about off the face of the earth, Perkins has been in Washington where he has followed the not too honorable business of lobbyist.

—John Pope bought of various parties seven head of butcher stuff at $10 to $13.

—Beazley Bros. sold to A. T. Nunnelle 12 head of 260 pound hogs a 3½ cents.

—Farmers that buy plows without first seeing Geo. D. Wearren will lose money.

—J. B. Cook, of the West End, sold to R. J. Lyles, of Nashville, a 2-year-old filly for $200.

—S. Van Meter sold 3 car-loads of culs of 250 cattle at 4 cents and his fat hogs at 3½ cents.—Lexington Gazette.

—Joseph M. Coffey bought of Casey county parties 13 head of butcher stuff at 2 cents and two work horses at $100 each.

—A. T. Nunnelle shipped a car load of cattle to Cincinnati Sunday, bought of J. E. Lynn at 4 cents. They averaged over 1,400.

—Starter Caldwell signed a two years contract to start races only at Guttensburg and Saratoga, and tracks managed by these racing clubs, at $25,000 a year.

—A turkey, which was put into a refrigerator in New York ten years ago, was taken out a few days since and served, being untainted and entirely tasteless.

—Farmers that buy plows without first seeing W. L. Dawson will not only lose money, but will miss the opportunity of having the best plow on the market.

—J. R. Walker, of Anderson, has received 250 Western steers, which he bought in Chicago at 3½c delivered. They will be fed at the Walker distillery.

—At a public sale of F. L. Hathaway's Berkshire herd at Lincoln, Neb., in Dec., eight boars averaged $25, and 41 sows $39. The highest price was $72 for Lucretia 14962.

—Capt. Ike Dann, of Lower Garrard sold to C. M. Jenkins his crop of White Burley tobacco, about 10,000 pounds, at $8 round. Ben Bright, of same neighborhood, sold about 7,000 pounds at 7½c.—Record.

—"California holds the yearling, two-year-old, three-year-old, four-year-old, five-year-old and the world's trotting records; Iowa holds the stallion record and Kentucky holds—her breath."—American Trotter.

—The census bureau's tobacco statistics show that the crop in 1889 amounted to 488,255,896 pounds, produced by 265,862 planters. The amount raised in Kentucky has advanced from 24.90 in 1850 and 36.20 in 1879, to 45.44 per cent. in 1890.

—Three large tobacco manufacturing plants will be established at Louisville this week—Thomas Gracey & Co., the big cheroot concern now doing business in Richmond, Va., the Monarch Tobacco Works, and the Nall & Williams Tobacco Company. Their reasons for locating there, the firms say, are that Louisville is the best distributing point in the country, and that it is the largest and most accessible tobacco market in the world.

For the Kentucky State World's Fair Conference, at Louisville, Jan. 20 and 21, agents on the Queen & Crescent route and Louisville Southern railroad will sell tickets at reduced rates on the certificate plan. For rates, etc., apply to agents of the Q & C. or L. S. R. R.

JOHN J. McROBERTS, Cashier.
J. S. HOCKER, President.
H. T. BUSH,
REAL ESTATE AGENT,
Stanford, Ky.

I have quite a number of FARMS for sale of the very best Blue-Grass Lands in Lincoln county. These Farms are all well improved and good rich lands, running in size from 30 to 500 Acres. Considering their locality, their richness and fertility of soil, the convenience of turnpikes and railroads that bring markets right to our door, they are cheaper than the Lands of any other county in the State. There is scarcely a Farm in the county over 5 miles from a depot.

The county is checked with turnpikes running in every direction. There is not a public road entering the county seat that is not Macadamized. We have the Knoxville Branch of the L. & N. R. R. dividing the county from East to West and the C. & S. R. R. from North to South; the K. C. R. R. from this place to Cincinnati, crossing the C. & O. at Winchester, giving full access to the markets of the whole world. Besides, we have three large Flour Mills in the county that give us a market for all our grain right at home; and the development of the mountain regions of Eastern Kentucky—South-eastern Kentucky by railroads and the outlet South by railroads has created such a demand for all kinds of cereals and provisions that we can scarcely retain enough for home consumption.

The people are prosperous, generous and kind, believing in Christianity and education. There is not a neighborhood in the county but has a good church and school-house. Stanford, the county seat of Lincoln, is a prosperous little city of about 2,500 inhabitants and is the great doorway from the North and North-east South and from the Northwest to Southeast, and standing as it does gazing right into the bosom of the undeveloped mountains of Southeastern Kentucky backed up by the whole Blue-Grass region of the State with railroads running through it to all points of the compass, makes it naturally one of the best located towns in the South for manufactures and other enterprises of magnitude. Water Works are now being agitated and right about the town about three-fourths of a mile there could be erected Water Works with very little cost that would supply a city of 150,000 inhabitants with the purest and best water in the world. Our little city has been newly rebuilt in the last few years and its business houses and residences will compare with larger cities of greater pretensions. Our merchants and tradesmen are all prosperous and doing well. We have two banks with a capital stock of $400,000 that are prosperous and in a good condition.

We have splendid schools. We have a Female College, a large brick building, with over 100 pupils in attendance and under the principalship of Prof. J. M. Hubbard, is in a flourishing condition. We also have a Seminary that is a good school, with Prof. B. F. Blakeman at its head. We have one of the best Public School buildings in this section of the State, with over 100 pupils in attendance, and with other good private schools, you see our school facilities are excellent.

We have elegant church buildings, representing every denomination, with a full corps of ministers of high class talent and are doing a better business than any class of men in the city. I have tried to make this statement as facts, without any exaggeration or coloring, as those who know will bear me out, and those who wish to buy homes at fair prices and locate among a good people with all the best surroundings, would do well to call and see me before purchasing elsewhere.

Gov. Brown's Message.

The document is longer than was reported, so we can give only a synopsis.
It begins by telling the legislators that in obedience to the provisions of the new constitution he had appointed three men learned in the law to confirm the statutes to it and that the commission will from time to time submit to your honorable body the product of their labors for your consideration. The laws you shall pass shall be of supreme importance. The value of the new constitution will, in a great measure indeed, depend upon your action. No General Assembly ever convened in this Commonwealth having graver and more solemn responsibilities resting upon them. The auditor estimates that there will be a deficit at the close of the fiscal year in 1893 of $481,- 430.71. Provision should be made by law to protect the credit of the State, and in order to accomplish this end, every species of property in the Commonwealth should bear its just and equitable proportion of the burden of taxation.

The constitutionality of the act exempting new railroads from taxation for the period of five years is questioned and the governor suggests that steps be taken to recover back dues as well as to levy and collect the tax in future. There are 46 of them and they should pay $38,- 211, each year. He also asks that heavy penalties be imposed on county attorneys who fail to see that the county tax on distilled spirits is properly collected. The governor regards the law as to the duties of county clerks concerning license fees defective and suggests important changes. The penitentiary question is considered at length. There are 898 convicts in the Frankfort prison, very many more than can be properly accommodated. In addition to these, there are 357 at Eddyville. The latter prison is badly located and unfit for the purposes for which it was intended. Its building was a stupendous mistake. The Frankfort prison ought to be enlarged to a capacity of 2,000 and the Eddyville branch made a house of reform for felons under 18½ years of age. He asks that the legislature "make a reasonably liberal appropriation" for a creditable exhibit of the State's resources at the World's Fair, that the office of State examiner be continued, that a provision be made for a Bank inspector and that the geological survey be modified or abolished. There is no uncertain expression as to lotteries. An earnest recommendation is made that the legislature by resolution direct the attorney general to institute proper proceeding to secure the early suppression of these pernicious institutions, which are corrupting the State by their baleful temptations and influences. Jurors cost last year $283,788.63 and witnesses $57,617,- 69, a large increase over former years.
To prevent frauds in these matters, the law should be made more stringent.

There is an amazing difference, that has existed for years and is yet sustained, in the expenses incurred in the several judicial districts of the State for criminal prosecutions. In the 11th district, Judge Montfort presiding, amount paid $4,153.52; in the 15th, Judge Boyd presiding, $19,085.64, and in the 19th district, Judge Lilly presiding, $16,626.37.
The attention of the General Assembly is invited to a consideration of the sharp contrasts appearing in these expenses and to an investigation of the causes thereof, with the hope expressed that some remedy may be found to curtail evident extravagance. At present there are 2,120 inmates in the three lunatic asylums, all of which are crowded. The institutions should not be stinted, but economically managed, and extra space made by enlarging rather than building new asylums. The governor doubts the constitutionality of the parole law, but wishes to divide with any lawful body the responsibilities and vexations incident to the exercise of the pardoning power, but with his convictions on the subject, will not participate in any proceedings of the board referred to.

The safety of the republic in coming years depends in a great measure upon the degree of the education of our children, and the governor hopes that all suggestions for the improvement of our system of free education may have your thoughtful and generous consideration, and that no more important subject will claim your attention, or have a more commanding influence upon the future character and welfare of the State. Adjutant General Gross is complimented and attention to his report on the State Guard is invited. The very business-like and excellent paper closes as follows:

"The manifold subjects upon which legislation will be required at your hands, under the provisions of our new constitution, I have not undertaken to enumerate—a reading of that instrument will suggest them. I beg to assure the members of your honorable body of my sincere desire that our association together may prove most pleasant and friendly, and I shall cordially co-operate with you in securing for our beloved Commonwealth good laws, under which her great resources may be developed, every right of the citizen protected and the peace and happiness of our people promoted. Respectfully, JOHN YOUNG BROWN.

Amy Younggirl—"Did you make any New Year's resolutions?" Flora Oldmaid—"Yes, I have resolved to get married this leap year or die in the attempt."

A BABY'S DIARY.

Dad Liked It at First but He Soon Got Tired.

First Week—As near as I am able to judge from appearances my arrival has kicked up quite an excitement in the household. I have been weighed and the figures were given at eight pounds.
I have also been carefully inspected and have been pronounced sound in mind and limb. It's a go as far as I am concerned.
My young dad seems to be tickled half to death. When he heard I was a boy he went out back of the house and jumped on his hat for joy. If I don't make him jump for some other cause before I get over this redness of complexion then you may play marbles on my bald head!

Second Week—Nurse is here yet and I'm on my good behavior. She looks to me like a woman who wouldn't take much sass from a youngster, and I don't want a row until my muscles work up a little more. Several parties in to see me, and I had to listen to the usual congratulations. Some talk of bringing me up on a bottle, but I'll have something to say about that later on. I'm lying low and talking things easy. Dad is still walking around with a grin on his face.
When he remarked that I was just the quietest and most good natured baby in all Chicago I came near giving myself dead away. There's a surprise in store for that hayseed, and it'll hit him like a load of brick.

Third Week—Everything so-so. Nurse goes Saturday night. She brags about what a little darling I am, but she's talking for wages. I'm quite sure she mis-trusts me. People keep coming in to paw me over and look at my feet. The general verdict is—ahem!—that I'm just the cutest, handsomest young'un ever born. That's all bosh, however, and I'm not at all stuck on my shape.

They allowed dad to carry me around a few minutes last evening, and you'd a-thought he owned the earth. He said he could walk with me for a week, and I just gurgled. He'll drop to something before he is a week older. I haven't said much thus far, but I've done a heap of thinking just the same. I don't propose to take advantage of the baby act much longer. Had a row with the nurse and had to give in. Beaten, but not conquered.

Fourth Week—I told you I'd do it and I did! The night after the nurse left I took up that unfinished business with dad, and along about 1 o'clock in the morning he was the sickest man you ever saw. I didn't want to kill him in one night and so saved some of him over for the next. Colic, you know. All babies have it and I wasn't going to be left out. Kicks, squirms, wriggles, yells, with dad trotting up and down until he finally shook his fist under my nose and hoped I'd die.

Then I let up a little, but I've got a lot more colic saved up. The happy grin has quite vanished from his face and they say he has lost five pounds. That's all right. I propose to take a hand in from this time on. If the old man gets out to lodge or a checker party again this winter you just ask me how it happened. I'm keeping the run of things under the proper dates, and now and then I'll dish up half a column or so and let you know who's running the house. Dad may go any day next week, but as for me I've come to stay.—Chicago Tribune.

No Sameness There.
"You don't have stewed prunes here every day, do you?" asked the new boarder of Hunker, as the two left the table.
"Oh, no," replied Hunker. "Mrs.
Small serves a good variety. We had stewed prunes today. Tomorrow we shall be likely to have prune pie; next day prune sauce; then prune turnover, followed by prune meringue and prune rolls. Oh, no; there's no sameness here!"
—Harper's Bazar.

A Feminine Search.
Bibbs—How do do, Bob? Where's sis?
Bob (sis' husband)—Gone shopping.
"What did she want?"
"Nothing."
"Then why did she go shopping?"
"To see if she could find anything that would make her want something."— New York Weekly.

Logical.
Teacher—Bobby, where do we get our sugar?
Bobby—From the sugar cane.
Teacher—Correct. Now, Edward,
where do we get our soap?
Edward—From the soapstone?—Rochester Post-Express.

Slight Delay.
Clara—I thought you were to go walking with Miss Grosgrain today? Didn't she have a new walking costume just from Paris?
Maude—Yes. But her dressmaker says it won't be done until tomorrow.—
Cloak Review.

A Successful Hunt.
Cholly—Aw! what success did you have on your hunting expedition, Pwed-dy, dear boy? Did you kill any game?
Fweddy—No, but Jove! But deuce take it, we killed four of the hunting dogs.—Truth.

Progress and Poverty.
Poker is a reform game. The players are constantly going better.—Binghamton Republican.

Aspirations.

"I say, mum, you don't know of no one who wants a nurse to take care of your children, do you?"—Life.

Beginning with the New Year, it is customary to form new resolutions and as far as possible profit by experience of the past. The general credit system having been universally condemned by both debtor and creditor as a curse to our country, one of our young grocery merchants has concluded that it will be wise and profitable to both himself and his customers to steer clear of this reef that has made shipwreck of so many in the past and at the same time offer such inducements to his customers that they can not afford to buy their Groceries elsewhere. For example he will sell you

20 lbs. Granulated Sugar for $1 00
23 lbs. best C Sugar..... 1 00
